

Redwood Giants

Banana Slugs might look like yellow bananas but they are special creatures that keep the forests healthy! Look for them on the forest floor, munching on the fallen leaves and berries. You might even see their sticky slime they use to help them move over the rough ground.

Redwood Giants

Raccoons are amazing swimmers and climbers. They can even climb down a tree head first! They are omnivores so they eat both plants and meat. One of their favorite foods from the forest is the crayfish that live in the streams!
